Objective & Summary

Would like to attend Genesis IT School in Genesis company to start my IT career as analyst and in near future become a part of your company as junior or even more.

Currently studying in KPI at FAM faculty as a student of applied mathematics. In two years, I studied mathematical analysis, linear algebra, numerical methods, probability theory, mathematical statistic, python programming and Oracle SQL and PL/SQL etc. I have good analysis skills; I am fast to learn, eager for knowledge and I have good communication skills to work as a teammate.

Skills

- Analysis
- Algebra
- Python
- Oracle SQL and PL/SQL
- Pre-Intermediate English

Education

I am a student of second course of KPI FAM at applied mathematics. Currently attend DataCamp data analyst courses and have some already finished SQL courses.

Additional information

I am open to master new technologies and information, easy to talk and communicate, can work additional hours if that needed. My hobby is all about math and management, I like to read books about it and to explore some new information such as game theory, numbers theory, something about programming etc. But I am not a bookworm, I like sport activities too, like swimming, running, basketball and so on.
